

Nature Reviews Bioengineering

Manufacturing innovation is essential for monoclonal antibody affordability and access

Tsekoa, Tsepo L

Council for Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR)

Meiring Naude Drive, Pretoria, 0184

Email: TTsekoa@csir.co.za

Biopharmaceutical manufacturing innovation is essential for making monoclonal antibodies affordable and accessible by overcoming critical cost and supply barriers. Importantly, innovation supporting regional production will be required to meet low- and middle-income country health needs and strengthen global resilience against future infectious disease outbreaks.